Dear Freddy:

I have your letter about your employment plans and shall be glad to help you in any way that I can. Our Personnel Office has established contacts for "executive placement" [redacted], and I think you might take advantage of their services. The resume which you have already compiled will be useful for this purpose but it would help direct our inquiries if we had a better idea of the kind of work which might interest you. One growing field which might not have occurred to you is teaching. In the event you are interested in a business position [redacted] it will be necessary to know how proficient you currently are in foreign languages.

We are looking forward to seeing you when you return in August.

With kindest regards,

Sincerely,
